
The Big Chill

Posted by And Then We Hit A Truck - 2008/05/24 11:43

A lot of my mates that are hardcore Glasto fans have had enough with the mud and rain and are going to The Big Chill this year.

Anyone else been?
I'd love to hear some reviews :)

=====

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by bl4ckhawk - 2008/05/24 22:46

You are right to not want to attend glasto floodland.....i can tell you though do not forget your thermal underwear for the big chill!

Last time i went i came back with a touch of frost bite!:lol:

=====

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by LittleMissSpliff - 2008/05/25 22:30

Always wanted to do The Big Chill, but still haven't managed it.

=====

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by bl4ckhawk - 2008/05/25 22:52

I wonder if Johnny Cash will play the big chill....?

=====

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by And Then We Hit A Truck - 2008/05/29 14:34

bl4ckhawk wrote:

I wonder if Johnny Cash will play the big chill....?

I hate to break you the news, mate, but he's been brown bread for nearly five years now... !

Johnny and the Zombies though, that would a groovy act, they could do more surf/garage rock inspired covers of his work LOL

--

re: Big Chill

Cold enough for frostbite?
I thought it was in July? Scary : O

re: Glasto

I am also not keen on the fact that they've been using a lot of concrete on the site to improve drainage. I mean, if it truly isn't for the profit, then why hold an event so big that it does SO much damage to the environment? Grr..

=====

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by bl4ckhawk - 2008/05/29 17:25

He can't be dead.....why was not one like the Jacko jackson not taken instead or the glittery one or even Blair.
Its so unfair!!!! <http://www.canedintotnes.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/ghfj.jpg>

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by And Then We Hit A Truck - 2008/05/30 00:01

the good ones always do go first, eh? : (

Re:The Big Chill

Posted by billuf - 2008/06/03 18:54

I went to the big chill a couple years back, it was pretty good. Nitin Sawhney was good. Tripping in the evening was pretty fun.